My dear W. Chapman.

Your letter came last week & I have failed to answer it. I trust your father is much better. I can scarcely realize how quickly the time passes. & the changes that have gone through. I have never been there since since the children married. & it [illegible]

& the best of health. she is so fat & bossy & full of fun. She has not been in America for four years. as they always go to Berlin for the Court Season. & love to go. We could not get them home to spend six months of every year with them. as they have an immense home. & big estate & Mr. Walker loves the riding & hunting & fine shooting. May is now more question of Placid is not to be thought of. Yes we felt the loss of Mrs. Atchison & Louise terribly. Mrs Atchison died of a broken heart. as she never was herself after Louise died. & although we did all in our power to rouse her. for she was such a favorite with everyone. we could do nothing. She seemed wasting & she only lived 4 mos. after. We never get over her loss. so bright & cheerful & so unselfish. The only remembrance we have of Placid we have is May Kept the canoe [illegible]

quite a lot in summer on a little river near her house. Everything was ended with the house.
I can imagine you have your hands full with all the babies I should think Placid just the place for them. Its so easy to live there, so little cooking & dress. I often think we owe Ella & Mary's good health to Placid for they are both so strong & such red cheeks. The envy of every one. Mr. Walker joins me in sending kindest remembrances to you all. Sincerely May Walker.
